

TRAFFIC RESUMED
OVER B. & O.; ONE
TRACK IS CLEARED

First Train Goes Over East-bound Rails This Morning.

TIEUP LASTED FOR 60 HOURS

Connellsville Division is Now Using
Its Own Line Instead of Travelling Over the Western Maryland to Conference: "Big Sheds" at Work

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad was able this morning to begin moving trains eastward over the Connellsville division, after traffic had been blocked in that direction for 50 hours by a landslide east of Indian Creek. The first train passed through over the eastbound track at 7 A. M.

Since the "soup slip," as railroad men term landslides of this nature, occurred on Thursday, traffic over the line between here and Confluence has been completely tied up. Trains bound for points east of Connellsville were sent over the Western Maryland tracks from West Yough to Confluence, where they changed back to the B. & O. tracks.

Thus morning managed to clear the eastbound track sufficiently to permit the passage of a train.

Through the cleared track great walls of clay mud 15 feet high line the way, but no danger of its filling in the excavation is expected, as the mass has dried considerably since yesterday.

The first train to go through over the division this morning was a wreck train coming west. It was sent out of Cumberland last night with orders to reach the flood stricken district west of Pittsburg with the least possible delay. The second train passing through was a fast freight. Later passenger trains were sent over the division.

Division Engineer Philip Petri is supervising the work of clearing the westbound track, and it is expected that both tracks will be in operation tonight.

Officials of the division worked for hours without rest in directing the work of clearing the slide.

ORDERS FOR PITTSBURG

Steel Center Must Replace Much of Flood Damage.

It will devolve on Pittsburgh to replace a large portion of the structural steel wrecked by the Ohio and Indiana floods. As soon as the debris is cleared sufficiently so that plans for reconstruction can be made, the manufacturers of steel for bridges and other structures, and the makers of rails, will be deluged with orders. Much of the steel in the bridges and buildings and railroads that were destroyed came from the mills in the Pittsburgh district, the structural steel center of the world. Practically all of this will be replaced by the Pittsburgh factories; in addition, much of the structural material that had been made by concerns in the States affected must be substituted with Pittsburgh steel for the reason that many of the Ohio and Indiana manufacturers have been either put out of Hundreds of bridges have been swept away, thousands of buildings are debris, and hundreds of miles of rails are twisted and torn into uselessness. It is as yet impossible to make any dependable estimate of the amount of steel of various kinds that will be necessary in the work of reconstruction.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE SAVES THE HAIR

And Keeps You Looking Young.

Don't look older than you are. It is just as easy to look younger. While lack of hair or poor hair is not always a sign of age, it is frequently accepted as such.

A person well advanced in years possessing a good head of hair is always spoken of as "well preserved."

Everyone desires beautiful hair. If it is falling out, it is almost sure to be poor hair or the loss of hair may be traced to the activity of the dandruff germ.

Newbro's Herpicide prevents the scalp-like accumulation and puts the scalp in a perfectly healthy condition. With the elimination of the dandruff the hair no longer drops out. The itching of the scalp stops almost at once.

Newbro's Herpicide is the remedy for which there are many substitutes. It is the only one that is guaranteed to be "just as good." Insist upon having genuine Herpicide.

Newbro's Herpicide in 50c and $1.00 sizes is sold by all druggists who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

Applications obtained at good barber-shops. Send 10c in postage to The Herpicide Co., Dept. K, Detroit, Mich., for sample and book. Graham & Co., Special Agents—Advertisement.

SKIN TROUBLE LIKE WATER BLISTERS

Spread Over Side of Face, Itched Very Badly. Had to Keep Hands Tied, Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in a Month.

R. P. D. No. 5, Waterloo, N. Y.—"I noticed a red spot near my baby Edith's eye. Pimples began to come up and water blisters followed. I put on ointment but it kept getting worse and in a week it had spread over nearly the whole side of her face. It made her look very bad at the time. It seemed to itch very badly so that I was obliged to keep her hands tied so she could not scratch it. The sores came like water blisters, quite red and when she did scratch them the water and blood would come out and run down her face, and then dry in a nasty, yellowish, thick-looking scab, only to get rubbed off and bleed again.

BURGESS ELLIS IS FOR RELIEF OF THE FLOOD SUFFERERS

Scottdale's Chief Municipal Officer Issues Proclamation
to Public.

BANKS TO ACT AS CUSTODIANS

Citizens, Religious and Benevolent Institutions of the Mill Town are Solicited for Help Which Will be Sent Soon to Ohio Flood Districts.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, March 28.—Burgess
R. F. Ellis of Scottdale has issued a proclamation for a relief fund for the Ohio sufferers from the flood. He states that he does this in his own initiative, prompted through public sentiment, and appeals to all citizens,
religious and benevolent institutions,
so far as possible to manifest the most brotherly consideration that can be shown, by prompt contributions toward the immediate relief from the distress of the catastrophe. Contributions may be made at the First National Bank, the Broadway National Bank, the Scottdale Bank or the Scottdale Savings & Trust Company,
all of which have volunteered to act as custodians of the fund, which will be forwarded to the proper authorities
on Monday morning.

Agent H. A. Lewis of the Adams
Express Company at Scottdale, today notified the Relief Committee that his company will carry anything that the express company can handle to the flood sufferers free of charge.

VERBAGE DUMP.
Some one is turning the gravel pit
just above the Anderson run culvert
and close to the sidewalk of the West Pittsburg street extension into a dumping place for old tin cans and other rubbish. This is in the borough, as out in the township the Supervisors have stopped the practice, and probably the borough will do the same when the health authorities find this out. With a flood of which there were many last year the stuff will all be washed down through the culvert and will clog the Loucks meadows below
the culvert.

W. C. T. U. INSTITUTE.
District No. 1 of the County W. C.
T. U. held a meeting at the home of Mrs. W. W. Eicher of Scottdale today afternoon. The institute was held in the First Baptist church of Scottdale on Tuesday, April 8. The sessions will begin at 10:30 o'clock in the morning and will be continued
during the day. The district is composed of the unions of Torr, Alverton Mount Pleasant and Scottdale. Lunch will be served at the church and all members are urged to attend the institute.

EDITORS MEET.
The Westmoreland County Press Association met in the afternoon at Pittsburg, and Scottdale was represented by A. L. Porter, editor of The Independent. An important section of the meeting was to take up the succession of the Organizing Committee of the Washington State Press Association toward the organizing of the county publishers. On a motion of E. A. Swenson, editor of the Greensburg Morning Review, seconded by S. J. Humphreys, editor of the Bellvue News, the Association took action as a body, instructing Secretary A. L. Porter to invite each individual member of the association of the action; assessing one dollar
upon them for the first year's dues, and authorizing the sending of the dures and names of each paper to the Secretary, Arthur A. Hay of Canonsville, Washington. A new member of the county association is Sam Morgan, Jr., the new owner of the Pennsylvania Argus.

PERSHING SPOKE.
Dr. J. H. Pershing of Greensburg, who lectured Friday evening in the United Brethren church of Everett,
on which Rev. S. J. Hummel is pastor,
on the subject of "That Old Serpent,
the Devil," drew a good number of Scottdale people to hear him. His lecture was bright, humorous, interesting and instructive and delivered in a pleasing manner.

PAY DAY.
This is the regular pay day at the mills and there is a lot of money getting into circulation. A lively day with the merchants is going on.

LAUGH EXERCISE.
Cleo Louke No. 138 L. A. to B. of
R. T. of Scottdale entertained in the Old "Fellow" hall on Thursday afternoon for the following ladies from Altoona, Derry, Pittsburg, Youngwood and Connelville. After business was transacted interesting addresses were made. The address of welcome was made by the President, Emma Baugh
and Mrs. Sue Hamilton. Those responding for the visiting ladies were

Mrs. Miek and Mrs. Trease of Altoona; Mrs. Lamb and Mrs. Neagle of Youngwood; Mrs. Nicholson and Mrs. McIlree of Connelville; Mrs.
Walton and Mrs. Martin of Pittsburg;
and Mrs. Bundy and Mrs. Brown of Derry, after which 50 members of the different lodges gave short addresses. Music was furnished by Mrs.
Lizzie Wilhelm of Scottdale. At 8 o'clock a well appointed dinner was served. The decorations were pink and white carnations. A dainty souvenir was given each guest as a reminder of the pleasant day spent in Scottdale.

IN SCOTSDALE

Statements of Scottdale Citizens are Always of Interest to Our Readers.
To many of our readers the streets of Scottdale are almost as familiar as those of our own town, and we are naturally interested to read of happenings there. The following report from a well-known and respected resident will be helpful to numbers of men and women here in Connellsville.

David Grimes, 416 Pittsburg St., Scottdale, Pa., says: "You are welcome to continue publishing the statement I gave in praise of Don's Kidney Pills in October 1907. I am always glad to recommend them. I had constant pain across the small of my back and I was often so lame and sore that I could hardly get about.
The kidney secretions were sometimes profuse, then again scanty and distressing. Nothing helped me until I used Don's Kidney Pills.

Do You Need Assistance

IN THE SELECTION OF YOUR WALL PAPER?

There is a logical sequence governed largely by the existing conditions in your home which if followed will produce correct results. Each room should be treated so as to give it correct form and proportions.

Then there is the question of color and design which must suit the individualities of each room as well as harmonize with the adjoining rooms.
Especially is this true of parlors, dining room and reception hall or any group of rooms when considered collectively.

I can render you valuable assistance in the selection of your Wall Papers.

FEEL SICK, BILIOUS, HEADACHY, OR CONSTIPATED? TAKE CASCARETS

Sick headache! Always trace them to lazy liver, delayed, fermenting
food in the bowels or a weak stomach.
Poisonous, constipated matter, gases and bile generated in the bowels, instead of being carried out of the system, is reabsorbed into the blood.
When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion
and that dull, sickening headache.
Cascarets remove the cause by stimulating the liver, making the bile and constipation go, move on and out of the bowels. The effect is instantaneous. Ladies whose sensitive organism are especially prone to sick headaches, need not suffer, for they can be quickly cured by Cascarets. One taken tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and make you feel bright and cheerful for months. Children need Cascarets, too—they love them because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

Connellsville Construction Company,

402 FIRST NATIONAL BANK BUILDING,

Bell Telephone No. 189.

Tri-State Phone No. 426.

A strictly modern home in every detail with the hall connected to the living room by a wide arch, a lavatory on the first floor, a large porch front and back. The sleeping room over the back porch can be opened on all sides and when properly screened makes a delightful sleeping room for warm summer nights. The perspective gives an excellent idea of the appearance of the house, which is one that most anybody would be proud to own, and which can be built on a narrow lot if necessary. Estimate does not contemplate a finished attic but this can be done at a slight additional expense. All rooms are large, well lighted and ventilated, and the arrangement leaves nothing to be desired.

Design No. 52.

Two-story brick house, size 29 feet 6 inches by 30 feet with finished attic. A large veranda in front; stone foundation and slate roof. Dormer windows give the attic plenty of light. Second floor has four chambers with closets, also line bath room. Gas, electric lights and hot air furnace can be used. Cement basement under entire house, 7 feet in the clear. First floor, 8 feet 6 inches; second, 8 feet 4 inches. House trimmed in stone. Plastering three coats, good hardware and plumbing. Interior should be finished in hardwood for first floor with exception of kitchen, which with the second floor should be finished in Georgia pine.

How to Reduce Insurance Rates?

The conditions are in the hands of the policyholder. The insurance man reads the conditions and applies them in formulating the rate.

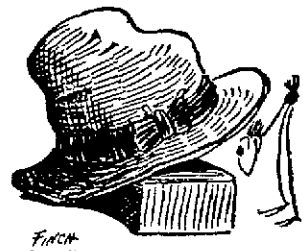

The average insurer is a careless business man. He will employ counsel to advise him on every transaction of a technical nature, yet will frequently entrust his Fire Insurance to some relative or friend, whose sole claim is that he can procure policies at current tariff rates.

To obtain the Lowest Rates is only one of the duties of an insurance agent.

CHAPTER XVI.

THE day of the race dawned bright and fair, without a cloud to mar its splendor. As the golden morning wore on, a gradual excitement became apparent among the cowboys, increasing as the hours passed, and as they prepared with joy to invade their rival's territory; nevertheless, the vigilant watch upon their champion did not relax.

It was some time after midnight that Lawrence Glass had been the cause of a wild alarm that brought the denizens of the ranch out in night apparel. Jack Chapin, awakened by a cry for help, had found him in the hands of Carara and Cloudy, who had been doing night duty in accordance with Stover's orders. What with the trainee's loud complaints, and the excited words of his captors, and the confusion resulting when the bunkhouse emptied itself of men half dead, it had taken the ranch-owner some time to discover that Glass had been surprised in the act of escaping. It seemed that the trainee, seeing a figure skulking past the white adobe walls of the house, had called upon to halt. There had been a dash for liberty, then a furious struggle before the intruder's identity became clear, and but for Chapin's prompt arrival upon the scene, violence would have likely been resulted.

"I tell you I'm walkin' in my sleep," declared Glass for the twentieth time. "Carara! You try for get away," stormed the Mexican. "Pig!"

"Not a bit like it! I've been a son nambuller ever since I'm a baby."

"Why didn't you say when we called?" Cloudy demanded.

"How can I talk when I'm sound asleep?"

"If you couldn't hear us call, why did you run?"

"Now have a little sense, pal. A sleep-walker don't know what he's doin'."

"Since there's no harm done, you'd better all go back to bed," Chapin advised. "Mr. Glass has the liberty of the ranch, boys, night or day, asleep or awake."

"Looks to me like he was tryin' to escape some," Stover balanced upon one bare foot, and undertook to remove a sand-burr from the other. In the darkness he seemed supernatural, tall, so that Glass hastened to strengthen his story.

"I was walkin' in my sleep as nice as you please when those rumples leep' 's me say! You know that's danger, you; you can kill a guy walkin' him up so sudden."

"There's easier ways than that," spoke Willie from the gloom.

"It's a yep trick just the same. I was in the middle of a swell dream, too."

"Come, come, Stover, get your boys back to bed! We'll have the whole ranch up with this noise!"

Chapin himself led Glass around the house, while that gentleman made no offer to explain the dream which had prompted him to wander about the whole disturbance, and was presently amused at the story when he awoke. He was sorely tempted to make known his agreement with Skinner, and put an end to his trainee's agony of mind; but he recalled Skinner's caution, and reflected that the slightest indiscretion might precipitate a tragedy. For the first time since the beginning of the adventure he was perfectly at ease, and the phe-sonomon added to his trainer's dismay. Others beside Lawrence Glass were apprehensive. Culver Covington, for instance, was plainly upset, while Roberts Keap pleaded headache and had her breakfast served in her room. It was shortly afterward that she appeared in the gymnasium doorway, and cried, in an accusing voice.

"Well, Mr. Speed!"

"Yes, quite well."

"You traitor!"

"You modern Borgias! Didn't you go and tell Helen everything?"

"Didn't you promise to stop Culver?"

"I did. I had him thrown in jail at Omaha. What more could I do?"

"You did try," sincerely. Mrs. Keap allowed her indignation to abate slightly.

"If I had known that, I wouldn't have told Helen. I'm sorry you didn't explain. I was angry, furious. And I was frightened too!"

She broke down suddenly. "What shall I do about them? I can see what they want to say, and yet I don't let either speak a word."

"Mrs. Keap, are you sure Culver loves you?"

"Horribly! And he suspects the truth. I saw him change the moment he found me here." Roberts began to weep, two limp tears stole down her cheeks, she groped for a chair, and wildly hastened to her assistance as he supported her, she gave way completely and bowed her head upon his shoulder.

It was in perfect keeping with the luck of things that Miss Blake should enter at the moment. She had come with Jack and his sister to inquire regarding the fitness of her champion, and to nerve him for the contest, and stood against Chapin stopped forward with a look of suspicion, inquiring:

"What's going on here?"

Miss Blake spoke brightly, tinkling her voice.

"There's no necessity for an explanation is there? It seems time for congratulations."

"Oh, see here now! Mrs. Keap's really engaged to Culver, you know."

"Culver!"

Each young ranchman and his sister stared at the chapman with growing horror, while she undertook to explain; but the blow had fallen so swiftly that her words were incoherent, and in the midst of them her nostrils turned and fled from the room.

"Now don't begin to evade until you understand the truth," Speed continued. "While she's engaged to that broken-toed serpent, she doesn't love him, do you see?" He smiled.

"I do not see!"

"It was simply a habit Mrs. Keap had got into—I should say it was an impulsive engagement that she has repented of."

"No doubt she was repenting when we interrupted you," said Miss Blake, bitterly.

"Then Chapin added, helplessly: 'But Culver is engaged to my sister Jean!'"

"Jean!" Mrs. Keap exposed her tragic face. "Then—he deceived me! Oh—! What wretches men are!"

The widow commenced to sob.

Outside came Miss Chapin's voice.

"So here you are, Mr. Covington! And the next moment she reappeared, dragging the crippled champion behind her. Thrusting him toward Roberts, she pouted. 'There, Mrs. Keap! I give him back to you.'"

"Perhaps you'd better go on with your explanations," Chapin suggested, coldly, to Speed.

"How can I when you won't listen to me? Hear ye! Hear ye! Culver was engaged to marry Mrs. Keap, but she discovered what a reprobate he was."

There was indistinguishable dissent of some sort from Mr. Covington, and who learned to detect him!

Mrs. Keap likewise dissented in accents muted.

"Well she would have learned to detect him in a short time, because she's in love with Jack Chapin, so she came to old Doctor Speed in her troubles, and he promised to fix it all up. Now I guess you four can do the rest of the explaining. If you ever get in trouble, come to the match making kid. I'll square it!"

They were four happy young people, and they lost no time in escaping elsewhere. When they had gone, their benefactor said to Miss Blake:

"Wouldn't you like to make that a triple wedding? We might get club rates."

For answer Miss Blake hurried to the door and was gone.

Over at the Cantalero there was a great activity and yet a certain idleness also, as if it had been a holiday. The men hung about in groups listening to the peripatetic phonograph. A dozen or more outsiders had ridden over from the post-office to witness the contest. Out by the corner which stood close to the first break of the foothills, Skinner was superintending the laying out of a course selecting a stretch of level ground worn smooth and hard by the tread of countless hoofs.

"Makes a pretty good track, eh?" he said to Gallagher. "I wonder how fast this fellow is? Ever heard?"

"They seem to think he's a whirling ball of fire but that don't worry you none, does it? Gallagher beat his lead blue eyes upon the cook, who shrugged carelessly, and Gallagher smiled, he was forced to admit that his man did not appear to be one easily frightened. Skinner's face was hard, his lips thin, his jaw was not that of a weakling. He had dressed early, then wrapped a horse-blanket about his shoulders, and now, casting this aside, sprinted down the dirt track for a few yards to test the footing, while Gallagher watched him with satisfaction—a thing of steel and wire, as tough, as agile, and as spirited as a range-ranched cowboy. He was unshaven, his running-trunks were cut from a pair of overalls, held up at the waist by a section of wire cord, and his chest was scantily covered by an undershirt from which the sleeves had been pulled. But when he returned to pick up his blanket Gallagher noted approvingly that he was not even breathing heavily.

best when he had something to run for. "You might advance me a month's wages he reflected."

"I'll do it! Hello! Say, ain't that one of them Flyin' Horse city viols?" From the direction of the ranch buildings Berkeley Fresno was approaching.

"Good-afternoon! You are Mr. Gallagher, I believe? I rode over with our crowd just now. Fresno looked back. "Let's step around to the other side of the corral, I want to talk to you." He led the way; then inquired: "Is this your runner?"

"That's him. His name's Skinner and that's a promise! I'll bet on Gallagher slipped a roll of bank notes from his pocket. "Chook! I'll get you."

"No, no! I think myself Mr. Skinner will win. That's why I'm here."

"Strip your hand, son! I don't savvy."

And Fresno explained. "You see, I'm a guest over there, but there's no sentiment with me in money matters. He produced a wallet, and took from it five one-hundred dollar bills. "Bet this for me, and don't let on where it came from. I'll see you after the race. Mind you, no word!"

"I'm dumb as the Egyptian Sphinx."

"This race means a lot to me, Mr. Skinner. The ghost of the Flyin' Horse Ranch hangs in the air. There's a girl in it. Understand?"

The cook showed the gleam of his teeth. "If you win, I'll send you some wedding cake and—a box of cigars."

"Thanks," said the other, but I've got a bum tooth, and I don't smoke."

As Fresno left, there approached in a surging group, the opposing side. "Good-evenin', Gabby!" Stover

With a knowledge confined mainly to livestock, the foreman inquired:

"How's your leg? I like to see 'em hairy, that-way; it's a sign of strength. I bet this college boy is as pink as a maiden's palm! He don't look to me like he could run."

"They fool you sometimes," said Skinner. "By the way, what have you bet?"

"We laid the phonograph agin their treasures on trappin'."

"But how much money?"

"We got three hundred pesos down, but they sent word they was comin' loaded for h'r, so we rustled five hundred more."

"Skinner's eyes gleamed. "I wish I had a couple of hundred to bet on myself."

Broke, eh?"

"I'm as clean as a hound's tooth."

"I'm sorry 'I'll tossed off your wages, but"—Gallagher started suspiciously—say! I reckon that won't affect your runnin' none, will it?"

Skinner admitted that he could run

"Brushwell"-Opportunity

Two Words, Different, But, to Investors, Meaning the Same

Why? For the reason that at the opportune time investors are afforded an opportunity to purchase the 1% participating preferred stock of the BRUSHWELL ELECTRIC WASHING MACHINE COMPANY at a price which, considering merit and possibilities, offers one of the most attractive investment opportunities on the market today.

OUR PROPOSITION THE AMERICAN BRUSHWELL COMPANY controls the BRUSHWELL ELECTRIC WASHING MACHINE, the only machine with which washing can be done better than by hand. It is a machine which is used by every woman in the world. It is a machine which is used by every woman in the world. It is a machine which is used by every woman in the world.

$500 REWARD We unconditionally claim to have the best washer on the market. Manufacturers have had in mind for over a year a standing offer of $500 to any person who can produce a machine which will wash soiled clothes as thoroughly, quickly and economically as THE BRUSHWELL WASHING MACHINE without the use of a washboard or any chemical detergent. The BRUSHWELL washes by means of brushes and rollers having neither paddles nor stamps; it does not have to be opened to arrange the wash.

POSSIBILITIES The principles embodied in the BRUSHWELL are an innovation on which should take the world. The machine is a broad code. You are no doubt familiar with the tremendous profits made by investors in the securities of corporations which have produced a steady and increasing return. The BRUSHWELL is a machine which is used by every woman in the world. It is a machine which is used by every woman in the world. It is a machine which is used by every woman in the world.

OFFERING A limited amount of 1% participating preferred stock (par value $10 per share) will be sold at the price of $10.00 per share. This is not an offering of the common stock of the company, but of the 1% participating preferred stock. The offering is being made for the purpose of raising funds for the development of the machine. The offering is being made for the purpose of raising funds for the development of the machine. The offering is being made for the purpose of raising funds for the development of the machine.

MEN, Don't Go Looking for Your Spring Clothes—COME! Full Stocks Here

SOME MEN Want to Pay Around $15 For Their Spring SUIT

and they want good suits and a good many to choose from for that money. Our special endeavor this season has been to supply a pleasing variety of medium priced clothes that will wear and look well from spring to spring—in other words, suits that will serve for more than one spring if need be. At $15—and to $30—are sack and Norfolk suits for every taste and every figure—toned down or debonair. In particular, some Norfolk models have cleverly caught that elusive style that so frequently gets away from the tailor who dallies with the plaits, patch pockets and belts of the Norfolk jacket. Gray shades, tans and blue.
